

MODERN AND TRADITIONAL AT DESIGN ATELIER CHICAGO

Lona Design

The Lona Collection (right) is a design collaborative of architect Peter Cebulak and designer Katherine Newman, business partners who are continually searching for pieces of furniture that will correctly reflect Cebulak and Newman's aesthetic philosophy and fit harmoniously into the environments they create. Recognized for unique attention to detail, this design partnership understands the essence of true luxury combined with simplicity and understatement. Lona furniture is simpatico with diverse personal collections ranging from fine period antiques to mid-20th-century modern aesthetics, to current 21st-century forms.

Scott Arthur Yerkey Furniture

If there is one word that describes Scott Arthur Yerkey Furniture, besides the obvious "sexy," "straight-lined," or "clean-edged," it is that the furniture has attitude as a result of the company's willingness to take risks in developing new ideas. The Kadavy Side or Lamp Table (right) is a new piece in the SAY Furniture line. As the Czech name indicates, it is the recreation of a small, out-of-scale antique seen in Prague. The tri-legged beauty, with its hammered-copper top and wood-trim surround, will set-off any chair, sofa, or chaise.

Studio Steel

Studio Steel creates extraordinary handcrafted chandeliers, lanterns, and sconces in a range of styles that complement and enhance any décor. The blending of superior design, simplicity of line, and artistic balance results in fresh translations of early European and American wrought-iron lighting, which can be viewed in high-end showrooms throughout the U.S. and Canada. From the integrity of Old World craftsmanship to the rich exquisite patinas, these one-of-a-kind sculptural-steel pieces are as comfortable in a contemporary setting as a traditional one.

Susan Fanfa Design

Inspired by the simplicity of geometric forms, the Susan Fanfa Design collection of furniture, lighting, and accessories is sculptural and versatile. Each piece features Fanfa's fresh, artistic pairing of polished metals and rich woods, as well as a hint of retro styling. The Geometric Chandelier's (left) architectural inspiration is evident in its tailored lines and stainless-steel finish; its horizontal planes evocative of a classic mid-century home. The Susan Fanfa Design collection is handcrafted and available in custom sizes and finishes.
